

BUCKINGHAM PALACE GARDENS

The Garden at Buckingham Palace will open to visitors, for the first time ever this year, and we have managed to secure 20 of the much converted tickets.

You will be free to wander around the garden's winding paths at your own pace and experience the beauty and calm of this walled oasis - the largest private garden in London. Among the many features to discover are the 156-metre Herbaceous Border, the Horse Chestnut Avenue, the plane trees planted by Queen Victoria and Prince Albert, and the famous lake with its island that is home to the Buckingham Palace bees. And once you're done exploring enjoy a picnic on one of the sweeping lawns overlooking the Palace. You can purchase delicious refreshments from one of the many food stalls dotted around the Garden or bring your own food and drink. Please see below what's allowed and what's not - notably alcohol is not allowed.
