

TENTERDEN & RYE

Enjoy the mornings journey to the Weald town of Tenderden, held to be William Caxton's birthplace. It is a market town with one of the most attractive main streets in the South of England. You will have time to browse the shops and hopefully visit the Friday's Food Market in Market Square. Early afternoon we set off for the enchanting port of Rye, which in Elizabethan times was heavily armed with cannon, but such defences were useless against the town's enemy, the sea. You will have time to explore the steep cobbled lanes leading off the High Street, with names like Watchbell Lane, Mermaid Street and Wish Street you can't fail to be enchanted by a town that time seems to have passed by.
