

HIGHGATE CEMETERY

When London's churchyards filled up, just as a young Queen Victoria came to the throne, a scheme was launched to build The Magnificent Seven - huge, modern cemeteries in a ring around the City. As soon as it opened in 1839 Highgate Cemetery in the Northern hills became THE place to be buried if you were rich or famous. Highgate would become one of the greatest cemeteries in the world full of eccentric funerary architecture. In the heart of the grounds the Egyptian Avenue leads to the Circle of Lebanon created by earth being excavated around an ancient Cedar of Lebanon. Nature has gradually taken over and this remarkable site is now also an important wild-life reserve. Come and meet London's famous dead in this Victorian Valhalla and enjoy the best fish & chip lunch in London. Be advised there are 2 flights of stairs, and the paths are steep and sometimes muddy.
